Opening of the Heart: The Sound that Calls Us,

by Dawn Grace Peters on July 18, 2013

What is the sound that calls us? Listen carefully.

The beating of our own hearts calls us to ourselves. It calls us to be our true selves, our best selves. Calls us to be what we might become.

The breath of our neighbor calls us outside ourselves. It calls us to be companions, allies, partners.

Let us heed the call of our own hearts, where love and truth, compassion and justice are born.

Let us heed the call of others, to gather together for some great purpose, where passion and fidelity, truth and equality are nourished.

The silence calls us together that we may do the work we cannot do alone. Let us heed the calls that come in the silence, that we may be well, and do good in this world together. Amen.

Proclamation of Grace:

Presider: The Good News is we are beloved children of God. We live in the promise of Christ, and NOTHING can ever separate us from God's love.

Gathering Song: Will You Let Me Be Your Servant (ELW 659)

1 Will you let me be your servant, let me be as
2 We are pil - grims on a jour - ney, we are trav - 'lers
3 I will hold the Christ-light for you in the night - time
4 I will weep when you are weep - ing; when you laugh I'll
5 Will you let me be your ser - vant, let me be as

Christ to you? Pray that I may have the grace to on the road; we are here to help each other of your fear; I will hold my hand out to you, laugh with you. I will share your joy and the sor - row Christ to you? Pray that I may have the grace to let you be my ser - vant, too.

walk the mile and bear the load.
speak the peace you long to hear.
till we've seen this jour - ney through.
let you be my ser - vant, too.

Reading by Linda DeGraf

Dear friends, In one way of reckoning, January marks the turning of the year. A time for looking back, looking ahead, and most importantly looking inward. The crushing inequities and violence of our times, the hostile rhetoric, the choking fear-mongering and intolerance, threaten to lead us once more down a path of despair.

If you've ever been out for a walk just after a heavy snowfall blankets the earth and garments the trees, you know the hushed magic, the grace-filled pause that fills the space with light. It's as if for that brief moment the snow beseeches us to see the world with fresh eyes.

"Stop in your tracks, cease chattering and crashing about. Yes, there are bare and broken branches, gnawed bones, littered paths, starving birds and hunting hawks. But I have another world in view. If only you can be still and imagine it." Now is the time to act, not out of fear or judgment or despair, but out of the stillness of the Spirit and wisdom of the Light. Because, as Clarissa Pinkola Estes says, "We were made for these times."

Scripture/Meditation Song: Open Your Hearts, verse 1 (Covenant 336)

Open your hearts, all those who hear this,
Open your hearts to know God's love.
Open your hearts to hear his message,
Jesus makes us one.

Scripture: Isaiah 43: 2, 18-19

² When you pass through the waters, I will be with you,
and through the rivers, they shall not overwhelm you;
when you walk through fire you shall not be burned,
and the flame shall not consume you.

¹⁸ Do not remember the former things or consider the things of old.

¹⁹ I am about to do a new thing;
now it springs forth; do you not perceive it?

I will make a way in the wilderness and rivers in the desert.

Presider: These are the words of an early Jewish community.

All: May we find wisdom for our living.

The Lord's Prayer: Interpreted by Monica Furlong

God, who cares for us,

The wonder of whose presence fills us with awe.

Let kindness, justice and love shine in our world.

Let your secrets be known here as they are in heaven.

Give us the food and the hope we need for today.

Forgive us our wrongdoing

as we forgive the wrongs done to us.

Protect us from pride and from despair and from the fear and hate which can swallow us up.

In you is truth, meaning, glory and power,

while worlds come and go.

Amen.

Heart Strings; A "Canjo" Workshop with David Stocker

Saturday, February 7th, 10:00 am to 1:00 pm
At Nature at the Confluence in South Beloit

Warm your heart by crafting a unique up-cycled instrument! Last year we made frame drums. This year, artist-in-residence, Dave Stocker is back to lead Origins of Music workshop #2: The CANJO, also known as a diddly-bow, is related to the Berimbaw of Afro-Brazilian roots. We will provide tools, materials and art supplies. Please bring a cleaned out can 14 oz-30 oz, a limited number will be available. Children under 10 need parent assistance to decorate and assemble.

Please register for the number of canjos that you or your group would like to make so we can prepare supplies. This is a come-and-go event from 10:00am-1:00pm. Canjo creation takes approximately one hour.

We invite you to choose the participation fee that is most accessible to you, either $15, $25 or $35 for your instrument. Your participation fee helps offset our cost of supplies and staff time. Please visit natureattheconfluence.com or call 815-200-6910 to register. (Nature At The Confluence is located at 306 Dickop St in South Beloit, IL)
